COAL MINING RESUMED AFTER TWENTY WEEKS IDLENESS, WEDNESDAY

Operators Representing Total Tonnage of Sixty Million Have Signed New Agreement—About Ten Per Cent Total Output.

Cleveland, August 16.—Coal was cut in the deep bituminous mines of Ohio today for the first time in twenty weeks, following the signing of a new wage scale by operators and miners in conference here late yesterday. Sole production during period of the strike was from open pits.

The first mines to resume operations were the Maher Properties and those of the Lorain Coal and Dock Co., in the vicinity of Besare.

Early today operators representing a total tonnage of approximately 60,000,000 had signed the new agreement. This is about ten percent of the total output of soft coal. Half of this tonnage is in Ohio and Western and Central Pennsylvania, a large amount from northern West Virginia and the rest, scattering from Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

Governor Harry L. Davis of Ohio, today ordered all national guardsmen to return to their home stations from the mine zones they have been guarding.

Before leaving for Philadelphia, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared he expected large numbers of operators not represented at the conference to sign the agreement without delay. He wired instructions to District chairmen of locals in districts covered by the agreement to resume operations at once.

"I esteem this termination of the conflict as especially gratifying not only to the United Mine Workers, who have emerged from this great conflict with signal honors, but the American people as well," Lewis said. "The miners may well be termed the shock troops of America and this controversy was their industrial Verdun."

Officers of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, two associations in Illinois and the Monongahela Association of Northern West Virginia declared that the Cleveland settlement would not affect them. However, scale conferences have been arranged with Illinois operators for Friday with some prospects of a settlement being reached. Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, declared he would endeavor to have the scale adopted.

OHIO FARM BUREAU ASKS SETTLEMENT OF SHOPS STRIKE

Directors Claim Lack of Cars Seriously Cripples Industry.

Columbus, Aug. 16.—"Immediate and equitable settlement of the railroad shippers' strike" through national administrative or congressional action is required in a resolution adopted by directors of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation in session here.

The resolution alleges that the farmer is vitally concerned with the strike situation. It says that the farmer pays more than half of the freight bills of the country.

The strike, it is claimed, makes it difficult to secure cars for the food crops, particularly such perishable commodities as fruit and vegetables. The resolution calls particular attention to the movement of 200,000 tons of fertilizer which must be on hand within 40 days.

Several of the directors complained that many farmers and local elevators have been placed in an extremely embarrassing position due to traffic difficulties.

In Washington and other southeastern Ohio counties, where great quantities of perishable vegetables are shipped to eastern markets heavy losses said to have been suffered, due to inability to secure cars.

SHOOTS WIFE AND THEN TRYS SUICIDE

Kansas City, August 16.—As she appeared at the front door of her attorney's home in response to the bell today, Mrs. Flossie Goodwin, 27, was shot twice by her husband, John Goodwin, 31, who turned the gun on himself. Both are dying.

Mrs. Goodwin, claiming that she was being annoyed by her husband, appealed to the police yesterday. They advised her to see an attorney, Lyle N. Kennedy, to allow her to spend the night in the Kennedy home.

DAMAGES FOR ALLEGED ASSAULT ARE ASKED

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 16.—The troubles of Walter T. Candler, the millionaire son of Asa Candler, the Coca Cola king, were added today when a suit asking $100,000 for an alleged criminal assault, was filed by Attorneys for Mrs. Clyde Byfield, wife of the man who was sued by Candler on Monday for annulment of a note for $20,500, said by Candler to have been given Byfield after he had been found in Mrs. Byfield's stateroom on board a steamship.

C. L. Knight Announces He Will Resign From Congress

Gives Reason as His Unwillingness to Support Administration's Policy Toward Ship Subsidy and Tariff Legislation.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Representative Charles L. Knight of Akron, Ohio, announced today he would resign from congress, because he should not support the administration's policy toward ship subsidy and tariff legislation.

Knight, also announced he would be an independent candidate for Governor in Ohio in the fall election.

Knight holds that the nomination of Carmi A. Thompson as Republican candidate for governor in the recent Ohio primary was an unqualified endorsement of the Harding administration, with which he is not entirely in sympathy. He was defeated by this primary.

INDUSTRY CRIPPLED

Suffering Among Household-holders Can Hardly Be Prevented.

Washington, August 16.—A coal shortage without parallel in the country's history will be witnessed this winter, government authorities agreed today despite the settlement of the strike effected at Cleveland.

Crippling of industry may result from fuel scarcity, reports indicated and suffering among household consumers may only be prevented by a rigid system of rationing. Future production, even if mines soon begin producing at a normal rate, will not meet the needs of consumers, officials declared.

Before attempting to work out a rationing plan, the administration will first try to rush through congress emergency legislation giving the government power to control coal prices. Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary of Commerce Hoover today were considering tentative proposals for such legislation as a basis for recommendations to the President. The president it is said will urge congress to act without delay to curb coal profiteering.

The president's advisers are convinced that distribution machinery already set up will function, without the need of additional legislation to control coal movements. The Interstate Commerce Commission will be relied upon through its system of coal car collection, to govern distribution in localities where needs are most urgent.

Until congress acts to stop price boosting of coal, the government will try to bring into line the heads of railroads and public utilities to prevent reckless competition for bituminous coal.

ELEVEN DIE WHEN FIRE SWEEPS OVER BOYS' ORPHANAGE

Blaze Threatens Village Near Montreal Late Tuesday Night

Montreal, August 16.—Eleven persons are believed to have perished in a fire that destroyed the Jewish Boys' Orphanage at Shawbridge near here late last night and threatened the village. The cause of the fire is unknown. Among those thought to have been burned to death are: Thomas Legault, 42, caretaker of the building; his wife, 41, his son, Jean, 12, and his daughter, 14. It was reported early today that seven of the 55 orphans in the home were missing when the roll call was made.

The fire was discovered by one of Legault's sons, Paul, who was on his way home after visiting friends in the village. As he neared the building he found that the place was a mass of flames. He attempted to open the doors and awaken the inmates of the building.

The flames, however, had made too much headway and he was obliged to run for shelter.

LIMIT NUMBER OF PICKETS.

Columbus, Aug. 16.—A temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge Sater against Norfolk and Western striking shophmen limits the strikers to one picket at each shop entrance. The injunction affects strikers at all points along the Norfolk and Western system south of Columbus, included in the southern Ohio federal district.

NEW EUROPEAN ALLIANCES ARE IN MAKING AS CONFERENCE ENDS

Deadly Perils Face Europe as Nations Disagree Over Fundamental Questions—France and England Pulling Farther Apart—Unrest is General.

New York, August 16.—Collapse of the allied indemnity conference in London and subsequent developments, today, drove home to European and American statesmen and political observers that the perils confronting Europe are more deadly dangerous than at any other time since "peace" was declared.

With Great Britain and France slowly drifting apart and dissolution of the Anglo-French entente threatened, new European alliances are in the making.

All the peace treaties growing out of the great war are confronted with either modification or complete revision.

There are four great international problems confronting Europe. Great Britain and France hold widely divergent views upon all of them. These issues, roughly grouped, are:

1—German indemnity, with a moratorium and possible reduction.

2—Russian problem, embracing conditions on which the Soviet would be recognized.

3—Solution of the near east tangle in a way to end the war between Greece and Turkey.

4—Cancellation of war debts.

Premier Poincare may ask the French chamber of deputies for sanction to direct independent action against Germany to compel the payment of indemnity and private debts. Such a sanction, no doubt, would take the form of further military occupation of German soil by France. Should France take such rigorous action it might precipitate the real European crisis that has so long been feared.

Britain is showing friendship for Germany and is supported by Italy. France, savagely hostile towards Germany, is supported by Belgium. France has entered into actual treaties or agreements with Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, and nationalist Turkey. Germany and Russia have entered into an agreement which may become an actual military alliance if allied pressure against Germany increases. Italy is virtually isolated, so far as an alliance is concerned.

All of Europe seethes with unrest and some parts with absolute chaos. There is war in the Near East and in Ireland. Germany fears civil war unless the differences between Berlin and Munich are definitely settled.

Italy has just passed through a whirlwind of violence, precipitated by the warfare between Fascists and socialists. Labor in Italy, Germany and Britain is restive.

The treaty of St. Germain has been tacitly modified to keep bankrupt Austria from utter dissolution. The treaty of Sevres has never been ratified. There is widespread demand for revision of the treaty of Versailles.

Taxation everywhere is heavy, but particularly in Britain, Italy and Germany. The money of central Europe is on the toboggan. One can buy about 1,035 marks for the American dollar. And before the war German mark was worth 24 to 25 cents in United States coin.

There is deep gloom all over Europe and the next few months should tell whether it is to end in an earthquake or sunny skies.

GREAT LOSS SAVED FRUIT GROWERS OF WEST; TRAINS MOVE

Rail Situation Cleared Up On Pacific Coast Relieving Trouble

San Francisco, Cal., August 16.—Approximately $15,000,000 worth of fruit, which California growers had feared would be a complete loss was either on its way to eastern markets today or was being picked up in readiness to move as a result of an almost complete clearing up of the critical rail situation on the Pacific coast.

Packing houses which had shut down because of curtailment of fruit shipments reopened today. Picking crews returned to the orchards. The whole industry which yesterday faced disaster was keyed up to a high pitch as a result of favorable developments in the rail situation.

All transcontinental arteries were open to a greater or lesser degree today except one and conferences were under way through which the western Pacific railroad hoped to be able to announce resumption of train service.

But resumption of traffic will not fully efface the loss to the state's fruit growers, estimated at from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000.

The embargo on the heaviest fruit carrying line—the southern Pacific route east via Ogden—was lifted at 5 o'clock last night following the return to work of trainmen at Roseville and Tracy.

Conditions were reported as much improved on the Santa Fe and Union Pacific lines today.

TRACE OCCUPANTS OF CAR; TRIO PLACED IN JAIL ON CHARGE

Marshal In Serious Condition After Alleged Attack.

Cincinnati, August 16.—Traced and arrested through the license number of an automobile from the running board of which James Loos, Marshall of Harrison, O., was knocked and seriously injured on Monday night when he attempted to arrest the occupants for speeding, two women and a man were arrested Tuesday in Cincinnati and arraigned last night in Harrison.

Ben Stapleton, 29, was given a hearing before Justice J. H. Rugg on charges of resisting an officer, speeding and assault, with intent to kill, and his case continued until Saturday. Miss Mary Gentry, 24, was fined $25 and costs by the mayor of Harrison for resisting an officer and for disorderly conduct, while Mrs. Daisy Newton, 20, who scratched the marshals face, was fined $50 and costs on similar charges. As the fines were unpaid and $2,000 for Stapleton not given, all three were lodged in jail.

George Newton, husband of one of the women is still sought by police. Marshall Loos regained consciousness long enough Tuesday night to tell his physician that one of the occupants of the car struck him on the head with a bottle. His skull is fractured and he is in a critical condition.

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF RAIL STRIKE BY AGREEMENT ARE SEEN

GIRL SAVED FROM AUCTION BLOCK

"M. A. C." the eighteen-year-old Massachusetts girl who offered to sell herself in marriage to any man who would furnish her $1,000 to save her family from want, stirred up so much philanthropic feeling for her that Boston people have raised the money—and she will not have to wait until she really falls in love.

Jilted Youth Fires Bullet Into Brain In Chicago

T. Ross Kepler, 19, World's Champion Radio Telegrapher Commits Suicide, When Girl Refuses To Accept Attention.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Jilted by the girl of his love dreams, the girl for whom he developed a mad infatuation at first, sight, T. Ross Kepler, 19, world's champion radio telegrapher, scribbled a tragic message of his blighted romance and fired a bullet into his head in the front vestibule of an apartment house today. He died at 11:15 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

The "dream girl" is Miss Olga Stobbe, 18, of Canton, Ohio, night chief operator there for the telephone company, who came here last Friday on a vacation and who was visiting a friend at the address where Kepler fired the shot.

Canton, Aug. 16.—T. Ross Kepler, reported shot and killed himself in Chicago last night, was a genius as a telegrapher, from his boyhood he had always been interested in telegraphy and recently in Columbus, during the national contests, won first place for sending and receiving. Later in Canton, in an exhibition he remained at a telegraph key for 14 consecutive hours, receiving, copy, sent by a friend from another station. Kepler was recently released from the Stark County workhouse on a suspended sentence for carrying concealed weapons after he was arrested following trouble with another man.

Only yesterday Kepler broke the world's record receiving the Morse code, taking 319 words in two minutes, and 53 seconds. He had followed Miss Stobbe here from Canton, his home town and had secured work as a telegrapher at Waukegan. "Either, kiss me just once before I am buried, out of respect to the love that is still yours, or have en-closed with my body the picture of yourself you promised me," his last note read in part.

"He was madly in love with me," Miss Stobbe said after the police had taken her to the station for questioning.

"I met him in Canton two years ago while he was working as a telegrapher. He called to see me many times. He wrote me many fervent letters.

"But I never encouraged him. I did not love him."

"I told him I wanted nothing more to do with him and hung up the receiver," she said.

Neighbors said Kepler paced the sidewalk in front of the house much of the night. This morning he was found unconscious in the lobby, the revolver beside him. He was rushed to a hospital but remained unconscious.

MIRACULOUS CURES ARE BROUGHT OUT

New York, Aug. 16.—Two miraculous cures by which a woman talked after being mute for 70 years, and a man walked after 39 years of helplessness engaged the attention of the medical fraternity today.

Lena Stein, aged 85, inmate of a Jewish home, has recovered her speech after an attack of influenza and pneumonia. Strangely, however, she speaks in English and has forgotten the German language—the only one she knew as a girl before coming to America from Frankfurt-on-main.

Frederick C. Birge, 53, who had not walked since he was attacked by infantile paralysis at his home in Middlebury, Vermont, when 14 years old, is now able to hobble about in the hospital for ruptured and crippled after lying with his legs in a plaster cast, following several operations.

SOVIET WILL DEFY ALLIED POWERS

HOCKING FIELDS ARE NOT INCLUDED IN AGREEMENT

Moscow, August 16.—Soviet Russia has reversed her policy since the Hague conference and strong intimations were given today that the government will continue to defy the allied powers as a group upon questions of the imperial debt and private property rights. At the same time the acting commissar for foreign affairs indicated emphatically that Soviet Russia is anxious to deal with the United States.

New York, August 16.—Morton Sultzer, under indictment on the charge of grand larceny, is so hard up that he would sell his parents' tomb to defray legal expenses—if the court would allow it. But Supreme Court Justice Guy is on record today as saying that court most emphatically will not.

The judge branded Sultzer's request, as "outrageous". The tomb is in Goodlawn Cemetery and cost $8,000. Sultzer said he had been brought up with the understanding that he would have a big income and never took the trouble to learn a profession or trade.

Athens, O., August 16.—While the larger mines of the Hocking coal field are ready for operation, day men having been cleaning up the works for several weeks, the policy of the operators will not be determined until Thursday afternoon when a general meeting will be held in Columbus. Mine owners, here today declared that their organization was not represented at the Cleveland meeting and that they will wait for a Hocking district decision before starting the mines.

JOINT MEETING TO GET RESULT IS EXPECTATION

Brotherhood Chiefs Meet Executives as President Addresses Congress.

TELLS "WHOLE STORY"

Harding Will Lay Matter Before Lawmakers and Put Issue to Them.

Washington, Aug. 16.—A plan for adjustment of the railroad strike is understood to have been worked out here at a lengthy conference here today between the heads of 16 standard railroad unions.

It will be taken to New York this afternoon by chiefs of the four brotherhoods and presented to the railway executives in tomorrow's joint conference at 61 Broadway.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Hopes for a settlement of the railroad strike by mutual agreement between the railroad executives and the strikers themselves were running high in Washington today as President Harding began the preparation of a message to congress dealing with the grave situation.

Officials of the four powerful brotherhoods will meet the railway executives in New York tomorrow about the same time the president goes to the Capitol to tell congress how serious the situation is, and there is good reason to believe that something will come of the joint conference.

President Harding's message to congress, it was understood today, will embrace virtually the following:

1—The president will tell congress "the whole story"—beginning with the Herrin massacres and winding up with the Arizona deserts where train crews abandoned trains at desert terminal points.

2—He will recount every step taken by the government to try to end the strike by peaceful means and give the reasons for their failure.

3—He will then figuratively "wash his hands" of the whole situation, and inform congress that the government has reached the end of its rope in trying to establish peace.

4—He will affirm the government's intention of affording protection to those railroads able to maintain service, by troops if necessary, and for those roads unable to fulfill their public obligations he will suggest other means—probably federal receiverships.

Looming in the background of the president's message is a final alternative should these steps fail to maintain transportation—government seizure—but it was undecided today whether this threat should be given a place in tomorrow's communication. Whether it is there or not, administration officials asserted today it is ever present as the government's final alternative.

The weight of a presidential message, coming on top of a presidential order that the safety rules affecting locomotives must be enforced, is expected to have a sobering effect upon both the "die hard" executives and the "hard boiled" leaders among the striking railroad workers. And, rightly or wrongly, administration officials were confident today that something will come of tomorrow's joint conference between the executives and the union leaders.

Despite the denials, and statements put forward by the railroad executives the fact stood forth with unmistakable promise today that the rolling stock of railroads is in a deplorable condition and is steadily becoming worse as a result of six weeks' suspension of repairs.

"We are taking steps and will be compelled to continue to proceed in a manner which must bring about serious withdrawal of motive power from service," said C. C. McChord, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in a letter to the president.

The president's reply was a direct order to the Interstate Commerce Commission to "diminish service rather than attempt to move trains on which safety is not assured."

Commissioner McChord did not go into details as to the condition of motive power in his letter to the president, but it is known that reports from federal inspectors on file at the Interstate Commerce Commission today tell of a condition of extreme gravity. A marked acceleration in retirement of defective locomotives is expected within the next few days as a result of the interchange of letters between McChord and the president.

The nature of the proposals which the brotherhood leaders will make to the executives at tomorrow's New York conference was not disclosed today by union heads, meeting here. It was asserted with positiveness, however, that there will be no yielding by the striking shopcraft workers on the issue of seniority—the rock upon which all peace efforts have smashed.

COAL MINING RESUMED AFTER TWENTY WEEKS IDLENESS, WEDNESDAY

Operators Representing Total Tonnage of Sixty Million Have Signed New Agreement—About Ten Per Cent Total Output.

Cleveland, August 16.—Coal was cut in the deep bituminous mines of Ohio today for the first time in twenty weeks, following the signing of a new wage scale by operators and miners in conference here late yesterday. Sole production during period of the strike was from open pits.

The first mines to resume operations were the Maher Properties and those of the Lorain Coal and Dock Co., in the vicinity of Beavertown.

Early today operators representing a total tonnage of approximately 60,000,000 had signed the new agreement. This is about ten percent of the total output of soft coal. He wired instructions to District chairmen of locals in districts covered by the agreement to resume operations at once.

"The miners will be termed the shock troops of America and this controversy was their industrial Verdun."

Officers of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, two associations in Illinois and the Monongahela Association of Northern West Virginia declared that the Cleveland settlement would not affect them. However, scale conferences have been arranged with Illinois operators for Friday with some prospects of a settlement being reached. Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, declared he would endeavor to have the scale adopted.

C. L. Knight Announces He Will Resign From Congress

Gives Reason as His Unwillingness to Support Administration's Policy Toward Ship Subsidy and Tariff Legislation.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Representative Charles L. Knight of Akron, Ohio, announced today he would resign from congress, because he should not support the administration's policy toward ship subsidy and tariff legislation.

Knight also announced he would be an independent candidate for Governor in Ohio in the fall election.

Knight holds that the nomination of Carmi A. Thompson as Republican candidate for governor in the recent Ohio primary was an unqualified endorsement of the Harding administration, with which he is not entirely in sympathy. He was defeated by this primary.

"Numerous requests have been made that I become a candidate at the November election on an independent ticket," Knight said. "While I am deeply appreciative of the kind and friendly motives prompting this request, I desire to say that I am entirely content with the decision which the people rendered on August 8, so far as it concerns me personally and I shall take no steps to secure a reconsideration of that decision by becoming a candidate for governor upon an independent ticket."

"However in view of the results of that election, I feel it is my duty to no longer oppose the administration's legislation program in congress. The result of the primaries is unquestionably an endorsement of that program, at least by a plurality of the republicans who voted and I therefore have no right to set up my judgment against the expression of popular opinion."

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF RAIL STRIKE BY AGREEMENT ARE SEEN

GIRL SAVED FROM AUCTION BLOCK

"M. A. C." the eighteen-year-old Massachusetts girl who offered to sell herself in marriage to any man who would furnish her $1,000 to save her family from want, stirred up so much philanthropic feeling for her that Boston people have raised the money—and she will not have to wed until she really falls in love.

Jilted Youth Fires Bullet Into Brain In Chicago

T. Ross Kepler, 19, World's Champion Radio Telegrapher Commits Suicide, When Girl Refuses To Accept Attention.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Jilted by the girl of his love dreams, the girl for whom he developed a mad infatuation at first sight, T. Ross Kepler, 19, world's champion radio telegrapher, scrawled a tragic message of his blighted romance and fired a bullet into his head in the front vestibule of an apartment house today. He died at 11:15 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

The "dream girl" is Miss Olga Stobbe, 18, of Canton, Ohio, night chief operator there for the telephone company, who came here last Friday on a vacation and who was visiting a friend at the address where Kepler fired the shot.

Miss Stobbe said Kepler followed her here last Friday and called her time after time on the telephone. "I told him I wanted nothing more to do with him and hung up the receiver," she said.

Neighbors said Kepler paced the sidewalk in front of the house much of the night. This morning he was found unconscious in the lobby, the revolver beside him. He was rushed to a hospital but remained unconscious.

MIRACULOUS CURES ARE BROUGHT OUT

New York, Aug. 16.—Two miraculous cures by which a woman talked after being mute for 70 years, and a man walked after 39 years of helplessness engaged the attention of the medical fraternity today.

Lena Stein, aged 85, inmate of a Jewish home, has recovered her speech after an attack of influenza and pneumonia. Strangely, however, she speaks in English and has forgotten the German language—the only one she knew as a girl before coming to America from Frankfurt-on-main.

Frederick C. Birge, 53, who had not walked since he was attacked by infantile paralysis at his home in Middlebury, Vermont, when 14 years old, is now able to hobble about in the hospital for ruptured and crippled after lying with his legs in a plaster cast, following several operations.

SOVIET WILL DEFY ALLIED POWERS

Moscow, August 16.—Soviet Russia has reversed her policy since the Hague conference and strong intimation was given today that the government will continue to defy the allied powers as a group upon questions of the imperial debt and private property rights. At the same time the acting commissar for foreign affairs indicated emphatically that Soviet Russia is anxious to deal with the United States.

The president's reply was a direct order to the Interstate Commerce Commission to "diminish service rather than attempt to move trains on which safety is not assured."

Commissioner McChord did not go into details as to the condition of motive power in his letter to the president, but it is known that reports from federal inspectors on file at the Interstate Commerce Commission today tell of a condition of extreme gravity. A marked acceleration in retirement of defective locomotives is expected within the next few days as a result of the interchange of letters between McChord and the president.

The nature of the proposals which the brotherhood leaders will make to the executives at tomorrow's New York conference was not disclosed today by union heads, meeting here. It was asserted with positiveness, however, that there will be no yielding by the striking shophmen workers on the issue of seniority—the rock upon which all peace efforts have smashed.

WOULD SELL TOMB OF HIS PARENTS

New York, August 16.—Morton Sultzer, under indictment on the charge of grand larceny, is so hard up that he would sell his parents' tomb to defray legal expenses—if the court would allow it. But Supreme Court Justice Guy is on record today as saying that court most emphatically will not.

The judge branded Sultzer's request as "outrageous." The tomb is in Goodlawn Cemetery and cost $8,000. Sultzer said he had been brought up with the understanding that he would have a big income and never took the trouble to learn a profession or trade.

JOINT MEETING TO GET RESULT IS EXPECTATION

Brotherhood Chiefs Meet Executives as President Addresses Congress.

TELLS "WHOLE STORY"

Harding Will Lay Matter Before Lawmakers and Put Issue to Them.

Washington, Aug. 16.—A plan for adjustment of the railroad strike is understood to have been worked out here at a lengthy conference here today between the heads of 16 standard railroad unions.

It will be taken to New York this afternoon by chiefs of the four brotherhoods and presented to the railway executives in tomorrow's joint conference at 61 Broadway.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Hopes for a settlement of the railroad strike by mutual agreement between the railroad executives and the strikers themselves were running high in Washington today as President Harding began the preparation of a message to congress dealing with the grave situation.

Officials of the four powerful brotherhoods will meet the railway executives in New York tomorrow about the same time the president goes to the Capitol to tell congress now serious the situation is, and there is good reason to believe that something will come of the joint conference.

President Harding's message to congress, it was understood today, will embrace virtually the following:

- 1—The president will tell congress "the whole story"—beginning with the Herrin massacres and winding up with the Arizona deserts where train crews abandoned trains at desert terminal points.
- 2—He will recount every step taken by the government to try to end the strike by peaceful means and give the reasons for their failure.
- 3—He will then figuratively "wash his hands" of the whole situation, and inform congress that the government has reached the end of its rope in trying to establish peace.
- 4—He will affirm the government's intention of affording protection to those railroads able to maintain service, by groups if necessary, and for those roads unable to fulfill their public obligations he will suggest other means—probably federal receivership.

Looming in the background of the president's message is a final alternative should these steps fail to maintain transportation—government seizure—but it was undecided today whether this threat should be given a place in tomorrow's communication. Whether it is there or not, administration officials asserted today it is ever present as the government's final alternative.

The weight of a presidential message, coming on top of a presidential order that the safety rules affecting locomotives must be enforced, is expected to have a sobering effect upon both the "die hard" executives and "the hard boiled" leaders among the striking railroad workers. And, rightly or wrongly, administration officials were confident today that something will come of tomorrow's joint conference between the executives and the union leaders.

Despite the denial, and statements put forward by the railroad executives the fact stood forth with unmistakable promise today that the rolling stock of railroads is in a deplorable condition and is steadily becoming worse as a result of six weeks' suspension of repairs.

"We are taking steps and will be compelled to continue to proceed in a manner which must bring about serious withdrawal of motive power from service," said C. C. McChord, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in a letter to the president.

The president's reply was a direct order to the Interstate Commerce Commission to "diminish service rather than attempt to move trains on which safety is not assured."

Commissioner McChord did not go into details as to the condition of motive power in his letter to the president, but it is known that reports from federal inspectors on file at the Interstate Commerce Commission today tell of a condition of extreme gravity. A marked acceleration in retirement of defective locomotives is expected within the next few days as a result of the interchange of letters between McChord and the president.

RULES BANKS CAN NOT GUARANTEE COAL PAYMENTS

(Columbus, August 16.—"National banks can not lawfully guarantee the payment of individual accounts for coal unless the money is in the bank and set aside specifically for that purpose," reads a communication received today by the Columbus Clearing House association from D. R. Crissinger, Washington, D. C., national comptroller of currency.

Comptroller Crissinger's statement constituted a reply to the request by the association for instructions relative to the clause, contained in the forms provided by federal fuel administration for priority orders for coal, requiring a bank guarantee of payment of delivery.

The experience of the fuel administration during the recent world war, it was said, was that a great deal of coal was consigned on priority orders for which the consignee found it very difficult to collect.

The present fuel administration sought to correct this by requiring guarantees of payment in advance. This seems to have been done without consulting the banking authorities at Washington, it was said.

Comptroller Crissinger's ruling is said to apply to all national banks and to all branches of the federal administration.

OHIO TROOPS ARE ORDERED HOME

Columbus, August 16.—Adjutant General Florence, acting upon instructions from Governor Davis today issued orders recalling to their home stations for purposes of demobilization, troop A, Cleveland and a provisional battalion of the 145th infantry, Cleveland, under command of Colonel Connelly, Cleveland, from the Cadiz area, and troop B, Columbus, under command of Captain Knaus, Columbus, from New Lexington.

It is expected that the adjutant general will issue orders this afternoon recalling Ohio national guardsmen station at near-Pomeroy.

The recall of the state militia men is due to the agreement reached at the Cleveland conference of coal operators and miners yesterday.

The guardsmen recalled from the Cadiz area include 135 officers and men.

BOOST IN PRICE OF ICE MAY LEAD TO COMPETITION

That the increased price of ice in Xenia may result in the Wilmington Ice Company, of Wilmington, establishing a local ice selling branch to supply the local wholesale and retail trade, is indicated in the visit here this week of Mr. Earley, president of the Wilmington Company.

Upon completion of arrangements between the Wilmington Company and a local agent, according to Mr. Earley the Wilmington Company plans to give Xenia consumers ice at the same price that is paid in Wilmington, where ice is delivered retail for 50 cents a hundred pounds and sold to larger consumers for 40 cents a hundred.

The activities of the Wilmington Company in this direction are the result of the recent jump in local prices from 60 to 75 cents per hundred put in effect by the Wilson Engineering Company, local manufacturers, who wholesale or retail all ice used in Xenia, either through their own distribution or selling to various local agencies.

The proposed coming to Xenia of the Wilmington Company is understood to be the result of a Wilmington "ice war" where according to Mr. Earley, the Xenia Company's ice is being sold at 50c and less per hundred in competition with the Wilmington Ice Company.

During the controversy according to those interested, it has developed that ice is retailing in Dayton at 56c Springfield 60c, Lebanon 60c and Washington C. H., 65c. It is understood that the Wilson Engineering Company states that its increase in price is due to the railroad strike and the increased cost of coal.

Douglas is charged with dealing with players on other teams to throw games, according to an announcement made by Judge Landis. President Heydler of the National League and Landis are here today making an investigation.

Judge Landis in his announcement declared Douglas had been placed on the ineligible list.

Douglas is one of the star pitchers of the New York Giants and has been connected with the Gotham team for some time.

With Douglas gone for good, New York's pennant chances were materially decreased.

Judge Landis refused to go into detail, or amplify his single statement that Douglas had been placed on the permanent ineligible list for dicker with other players to throw games.

DISMANTLE BAR AT GIBSON HOTEL

Cincinnati, Aug. 16.—The Gibson Hotel bar, once famous for its sarsaparilla cocktails and said to be the birthplace of the mint julep, was being dismantled Wednesday as a fixture that had outlived its usefulness.

It is 65 years old, made of solid mahogany and cost originally $15,000. Bill Ryedell, who stood behind it for 25 years, looked on for a few minutes with tears in his eyes and then walked back to the present hotel "bar" and its root beer glasses.

CLEVELAND MAY BE WITHOUT ELECTRICITY

Columbus, August 16.—Plans for possible curtailment of electric power and illumination current are to be discussed at a meeting today at Cleveland, between F. B. Mauller, member of the State Fuel Administration and representatives of public utilities in various cities throughout the state.

State fuel administrator Poor declared here that no immediate curtailment of lighting power in the city was being considered, but asserted that the meeting was being held for the purpose of having necessary data on hand in case that the fuel shortage became serious enough to warrant such action.

The mines to be reopened as a result of the Cleveland conference will effect no immediate change in the fuel shortage situation, distributor Poor asserted. He declared that points some distance from the mines stand little chance of being benefited during the rail strike.

TRAIN BLOCKS CROSSING ON SOUTH DETROIT STREET

Patrolman Charles Simms investigated a report shortly after 11 o'clock Tuesday night that a Baltimore and Ohio freight train was blocking the South Detroit Street crossing longer than the time limit allowed by law.

TELEPHONES POLICE; THEN SHOTS SELF

Columbus, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Merle Mock, 26, was near death today from a self-inflicted wound.

Police, who last night received a hurry call to a South Side residence claimed to have discovered one of the strangest and most carefully planned suicide plots on Columbus' criminal history.

After calmly calling police and instructing them to bring an ambulance, Mrs. Mock went to the second story of her home. Her husband was out. She awaited the arrival of police.

When officers entered the front door of the darkened home, Mrs. Mock walked quietly down the front stairs, tossed them an envelope and then fired a bullet through her abdomen.

Her limp form tumbled to the foot of the stairs.

The envelope, police say, was addressed to the woman's mother.

It said, "Mother, take everything I have. Prayers."

BRANDS BIG OIL FIRMS MONOPOLIES

Washington, Aug. 16.—Branding the great international oil companies as monopolists seeking to "strangle the markets of America," Senator Harrell, Republican of Oklahoma, today demanded the senate enact a tariff against Mexican importations.

Harrell urging passage of a duty of 35 cents a barrel on Mexican petroleum declared $75,000,000 would be paid to the government annually if the tariff was enacted. He named the Standard Oil group, the Edward L. Doheny Companies and the Royal Dutch Shell group as the three concerns now controlling the Mexican outflow who seek to wipe out American independents.

Harrell said his proposed tariff would not be reflected in the price of gasoline, pointing out that recent reductions in the price of crude oil had brought no corresponding slashes in gasoline values.

"It is the policy of the monopolists to buy crude oil as cheaply as possible and to sell it for all the public will pay," Harrell charged.

COURT NEWS

How much is shade worth? What pecuniary value can be placed upon beauty and shade of large shade trees.

Howard C. Dyche, who owns a summer home in Spring Valley, estimated the value of the shade and beauty of the trees in front of his home as $1,500 to him, and asks damages in that amount from The Ohio Bell Telephone Company, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court.

The suit charges that on May 31, 1922, the telephone company's workmen cut the tops of the trees which were within the boundaries of the plaintiff's property, severing several large limbs and slashing and damaging others, so that the beauty and usefulness of the trees was destroyed and their vitality affected.

ORDINANCE FOR STREET PAVING IS PASSED AT MEETING

Judge H. L. Smith, president of the City Commission, who has been ill at his home on South Detroit St., for some time, was transported by automobile to the commission chamber of City Hall Tuesday afternoon to attend a special meeting of the commission.

In the absence of Mayor M. J. Hartley, who is traveling through the west on a vacation trip the presence of Judge Smith was needed to provide the necessary quorum. The commission passed two ordinances laying the foundation for the North Detroit street paving project.

One ordinance provides the improvement of North Detroit Street from the present paving limit at Fairground Avenue to the north corporation line, by paving, construction of storm water sewers, water connections and cement curbs and gutters.

The other ordinance provides for the issue of $30,000 worth of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of the street. The bonds are to bear 5 1/2 percent interest, of $3,500 denomination each and to run ten years.

DRAMATIC SCENE UNFOLDS AS PAIR MEET IN PRISON

Toms River, N. J., August 16.—There was a dramatic scene in Ocean County jail at the dimly lighted cell of Mrs. William Giberson, the Lakehurst, N. J., church worker who is accused of murdering her husband, when she was confronted early today by Harold A. Ganun, who is alleged to have written her scores of love letters.

The woman told police that her husband had been killed by one of two burglars.

Ganun was brought here from Brooklyn, N. Y., and questioned until after midnight. After an examination of several hours, during which Ganun is alleged to have admitted that his wife had left him because of his relations with Mrs. Giberson, the man asked to be allowed to see the prisoner. They talked together about five minutes through the bars of the cell.

Details of the relations existing between Giberson and Ganun were said to have been revealed by the love letters which are now in possession of the prosecuting attorney.

Mrs. Ganun has volunteered her services in helping clear up the murder mystery. She said she knew of the letters and that had caused an estrangement between herself and her husband several months ago. The letters according to prosecuting attorney arranged appointments between Mrs. Giberson and Ganun in New York City, Red Bank and Asbury park.

Ganun is now under arrest. The Ocean County authorities in delving into the past of the Giberson's learned in the police records that Giberson, who was well to do, had been treated for poisoning 18 months ago. At the time the police learned that Giberson had eaten buckwheat cakes in his home and that the cakes were suspected of containing some kind of poison.

RULES BANKS CAN NOT GUARANTEE COAL PAYMENTS

Columbus, August 16.—"National banks can not lawfully guarantee the payment of individual accounts for coal unless the money is in the bank and set aside specifically for that purpose," reads a communication received today by the Columbus Clearing House association from D. R. Crissinger, Washington, D. C., national comptroller of currency.

Comptroller Crissinger's statement constituted a reply to the request by the association for instructions relative to the clause, contained in the forms provided by federal fuel administration for priority orders for coal, requiring a bank guarantee of payment of delivery.

The experience of the fuel administration during the recent world war, it was said, was that a great deal of coal was consigned on priority orders for which the consignee found it very difficult to collect.

The present fuel administration sought to correct this by requiring guarantees of payment in advance. It seems to have been done without consulting the banking authorities at Washington, it was said.

Comptroller Crissinger's ruling is said to apply to all national banks and to all branches of the federal administration.

OHIO TROOPS ARE ORDERED HOME

Columbus, August 16.—Adjutant General Florence, acting upon instructions from Governor Davis today issued orders recalling to their home stations for purposes of demobilization, troop A, Cleveland and a provisional battalion of the 145th infantry, Cleveland, under command of Colonel Connelly, Cleveland, from the Cadiz area, and troop B, Columbus, under command of Captain Knaus, Columbus, from New Lexington.

It is expected that the adjutant general will issue orders this afternoon recalling Ohio national guardsmen to their home stations.

The recall of the state militia men is due to the agreement reached at the Cleveland conference of coal operators and miners yesterday.

The guardsmen recalled from the Cadiz area include 135 officers and men.

POINCARÉ POLICY IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Paris, August 16.—The French cabinet, unanimously approved and ratified the policy pursued by Premier Poincaré in the allied indemnity conference in London, it was announced this afternoon. The next step is up to the chamber of deputies.

EXPECTED TO SIGN.

BOOST IN PRICE OF ICE MAY LEAD TO COMPETITION

That the increased price of ice in Xenia may result in the Wilmington Ice Company, of Wilmington, establishing a local ice selling branch to supply the local wholesale and retail trade, is indicated in the visit here this week of Mr. Earley, president of the Wilmington Company.

Upon completion of arrangements between the Wilmington Company and a local agent, according to Mr. Earley the Wilmington Company plans to give Xenia consumers ice at the same price that is paid in Wilmington, where ice is delivered retail for 50 cents a hundred pounds and sold to larger consumers for 40 cents a hundred.

The activities of the Wilmington Company in this direction are the result of the recent jump in local prices from 60 to 75 cents per hundred paid in effect by the Wilson Engineering Company, local manufacturers, who wholesale or retail all ice used in Xenia, either through their own distribution or selling to various local agencies.

The proposed coming to Xenia of the Wilmington Company is understood to be the result of a Wilmington "ice war" where according to Mr. Earley, the Xenia Company's ice is being sold at 50c and less per hundred in competition with the Wilmington Ice Company.

During the controversy according to those interested, it has developed that ice is retailing in Dayton at 55c Springfield 60c, Lebanon 60c and Washington C. H. 65c. It is understood that the Wilson Engineering Company states that its increase in price is due to the railroad strike and the increased cost of coal.

"SHUFFLIN" PHIL RULED FOREVER OUT OF BASEBALL

Pittsburgh, Aug. 16.—"Shufflin" Phil Douglas, noted baseball player, was today forever ruled out of organized baseball by Judge K. M. Landis. Douglas is charged with dickering with players on other teams to throw games, according to an announcement made by Judge Landis. President Heydler of the National League and Landis are here today making an investigation.

Judge Landis in his announcement declared Douglas had been placed on the ineligible list.

Douglas is one of the star pitchers of the New York Giants and has been connected with the Gotham team for some time.

With Douglas gone for good, New York's pennant chances were materially decreased.

Judge Landis refused to go into details or amplify his single statement that Douglas had been placed on the permanent ineligible list for dickering with other players to throw games.

DISMANTLE BAR AT GIBSON HOTEL

Cincinnati, Aug. 16.—The Gibson Hotel bar, once famous for its sazerac cocktails and said to be the birthplace of the mint julep, was being dismantled Wednesday as a fixture that had outlived its usefulness.

It is 65 years old, made of solid mahogany and cost originally $15,000. Bill Ryeder, who stood behind it for 25 years, looked on for a few minutes with tears in his eyes and then walked back to the present hotel "bar" and its root beer glasses.

CLEVELAND MAY BE WITHOUT ELECTRICITY

Columbus, August 16.—Plans for possible curtailment of electric power and illumination current are to be discussed at a meeting today at Cleveland, between F. B. Mauller, member of the State Fuel Administration and representatives of public utilities in various cities throughout the state.

State fuel administrator Poor declared here that no immediate curtailment of lighting power in the city was being considered, but asserted that the meeting was being held for the purpose of having necessary data on hand in case the fuel shortage became serious enough to warrant such action.

The mines to be reopened as a result of the Cleveland conference will effect no immediate change in the fuel shortage situation, distributed Poor asserted. He declared that points some distance from the mines stand little chance of being benefitted during the rail strike.

TELEPHONES POLICE; THEN SHOOTS SELF

Columbus, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Merle Mock, 26, was near death today from a self-inflicted wound.

Police, who last night received a hurry call to a South Side residence claimed to have discovered one of the strangest and most carefully planned suicide plots on Columbus' criminal history.

After calmly calling police and instructing them to bring an ambulance, Mrs. Mock went to the second story of her home. Her husband was out. She awaited the arrival of police.

When officers entered the front door of the darkened home, Mrs. Mock walked quietly down the front stairs, tossed them an envelope and then fired a bullet through her abdomen.

Her limp form tumbled to the foot of the stairs.

The envelope, police say, was addressed to the woman's mother.

It said, "Mother, take everything I have. Prayers."

BRANDS BIG OIL FIRMS MONOPOLIES

Washington, Aug. 16.—Branding the great international oil companies as monopolists seeking to "strangle the markets of America," Senator Harrel, Republican of Oklahoma, today demanded the senate enact a tariff against Mexican importations.

Harrel urged passage of a duty of 35 cents a barrel on Mexican petroleum declared $75,000,000 would be paid to the government annually if the tariff was enacted. He named the Standard Oil group, the Edward L. Doheny Companies and the Royal Dutch Shell group as the three concerns now controlling the Mexican output who seek to wipe out American independents.

Harrel said his proposed tariff would not be reflected in the price of gasoline, pointing out that recent reductions in the price of crude oil had brought no corresponding slashes in gasoline values.

"It is the policy of the monopolists to buy crude oil as cheaply as possible and to sell it for all the public will pay," Harrel charged.

YOUNG APPEARS TO WIN OVER McDONALD

Columbus, August 16.—Official figures from 81 counties and the unofficial count from the remaining seven counties in Ohio indicate that Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, has nosed out B. F. McDonald, Newark, his closest opponent for the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

The vote from the figures now on file at the secretary of state's office shows Young leading McDonald by 620 votes. Young led McDonald by 620 votes when official figures on the 81 counties were tallied. Unofficial figures from Mahoning, Hamilton, Lucas, Henry, Greene, Butler and Champaign counties, however, decreased Young's lead to 220.

The fracture at the bottom of the skull affects the right orb, says the bulletin. The cerebral commotion previously noted is decreasing and there are no signs of cerebral compression. To ascertain the exact extent of the skull fracture the use of X-ray apparatus would be necessary, but the doctors do not wish to move their patient.

COURT NEWS

HOW MUCH IS SHADE WORTH? What pecuniary value can be placed upon beauty and shade of large shade trees?

Howard C. Dyche, who owns a summer home in Spring Valley, estimated the value of the shade and beauty of the trees in front of his house as $1,500 to him, and asks damages in that amount from The Ohio Bell Telephone Company, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court.

The suit charges that on May 31, 1922, the telephone company's workmen cut the tops of the trees which were within the boundaries of the plaintiff's property, severing several large limbs and slashing and damaging others, so that the beauty and usefulness of the trees was destroyed and their vitality affected.

The plaintiff charges further that the telephone company's line encroaches on his lot ten or 15 feet, that he had frequently refused permission to trim the trees and that the defendant company knew it had no authority to do so except in the absence of the plaintiff. He claims he was damaged in the sum of $1,500 and asks that amount in judgment. Attorney George H. Smith represents the plaintiff.

SENATE ADOPTS FLEXIBLE TARIFF.

The Senate, Friday, adopted the provisions in the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill embodying President Harding's recommendations for elasticity of rates after making many vital changes. Having limited the operation of its provision to July 1, 1924, the section was adopted by a vote of 36 to 20.

Before accepting that part of the Tariff Bill, the Senate forced the Finance Committee to revise the original text by placing much greater restrictions upon the powers originally intended to be conferred upon the President. The amendments adopted authorize the President to raise and lower rates within 50 per cent of the limit fixed by Congress to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad.

They provide that the President shall make those modifications on the basis of foreign valuation, except with respect to those sections embodying the rates on dyestuffs, when the rates may be raised or lowered on the basis of American valuation if the other method fails to achieve the purpose sought.

In other amendments, the Senate forced the Finance Committee to accept the demands of Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, that the President be denied the power to change the rates on the basis of "conditions in competition" instead of the differences in the cost of production.

The modifications were so extensive as to embrace the wishes of virtually all Republicans, only three of whom were unwilling to go along with the majority on the final rollcall.

OLD GHOSTS WALK.

Glen Plumb died the other day, but the ghost of his "Plumb Plan" is walking again in Washington. It is rubbing phantom elbows with the wraiths of all of the many and kindred proposals for the nationalization and Government operation of railways that have thronged Capitol Hill in the not remote past.

These dead plans of 1920 and before threaten to become the living of 1922, thanks to the growing emergency born of the rail strike. It may be that more momentous industrial history is being written than does appear upon the surface. Washington is thronged with rail union chiefs who are openly hostile to private ownership and who are beginning to believe they may be able to drag their lost prize of national operation out of the strike whirlpool.

Until August the shop strike was dragging after the manner of such strikes. Big as it loomed, piled upon the nation-wide coal strike, it appeared to be no more than a serious walkout that somehow would be settled, leaving industry and the public to worry with its aftermaths.

It was August before rail labor fused itself into something near solidarity. Then the strike took a new turn. Instead of six unions laying heavy hands on the roads, sixteen crafts and brotherhoods appeared. Intervening to save the shop crafts from disaster, the "Big Four" have given the strike a different direction. In July it was a struggle over wages, later it became a feud over "seniority," and now it seems to be swinging over toward a drive for a return of national operation.

The hopes of 1916-17 are swelling into bloom once more, and they brighten with fresh color in the breath of the threat to operate the roads from Washington. Those happy days of McAdoo and the United States Railway Administration do not seem so lost and gone forever as they did when the roads went back to their owners two years ago.

It is possible that the situation and these renewed hopes are the result of studied tactics; but the chances are that the union leaders are taking advantage of conditions as they see them. In the deadlock they see another chance and are beginning, like good strategists, to make chances where they do not exist. Without open violation of their contracts, the "Big Four" of the Rail Brotherhoods can make the country so sick of the present mess that it might welcome even the bitter dose of national operation. Once the roads do get back to Federal control, the rail unions believe they can keep them there.

The rail men have not forgotten the "Plumb Plan" nor its sisters and cousins. National operation remains for them the pillar of fire by night and the pillar of smoke by day. Glen Plumb is dead, but his plan, with many others, goes marching on. When the rail problem marches into Congress these old ghosts will stalk behind it.—Public Ledger.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA OR FLORIDA, WHICH PREFERABLE?

"Why go to Florida where you get only climate and mosquitoes? Here (in California) I have seen only two of those buzzing pests and they were blundering around, quite aware that they were out of place! And our climate beats Florida's out of sight, and you see something on the way."

So writes Dr. C. C. Bragdon, of Pasadena, Calif., in an article entitled "Two More Wonders of the World," which appeared in the May 24th issue of the Zien's Herald, published in Boston.

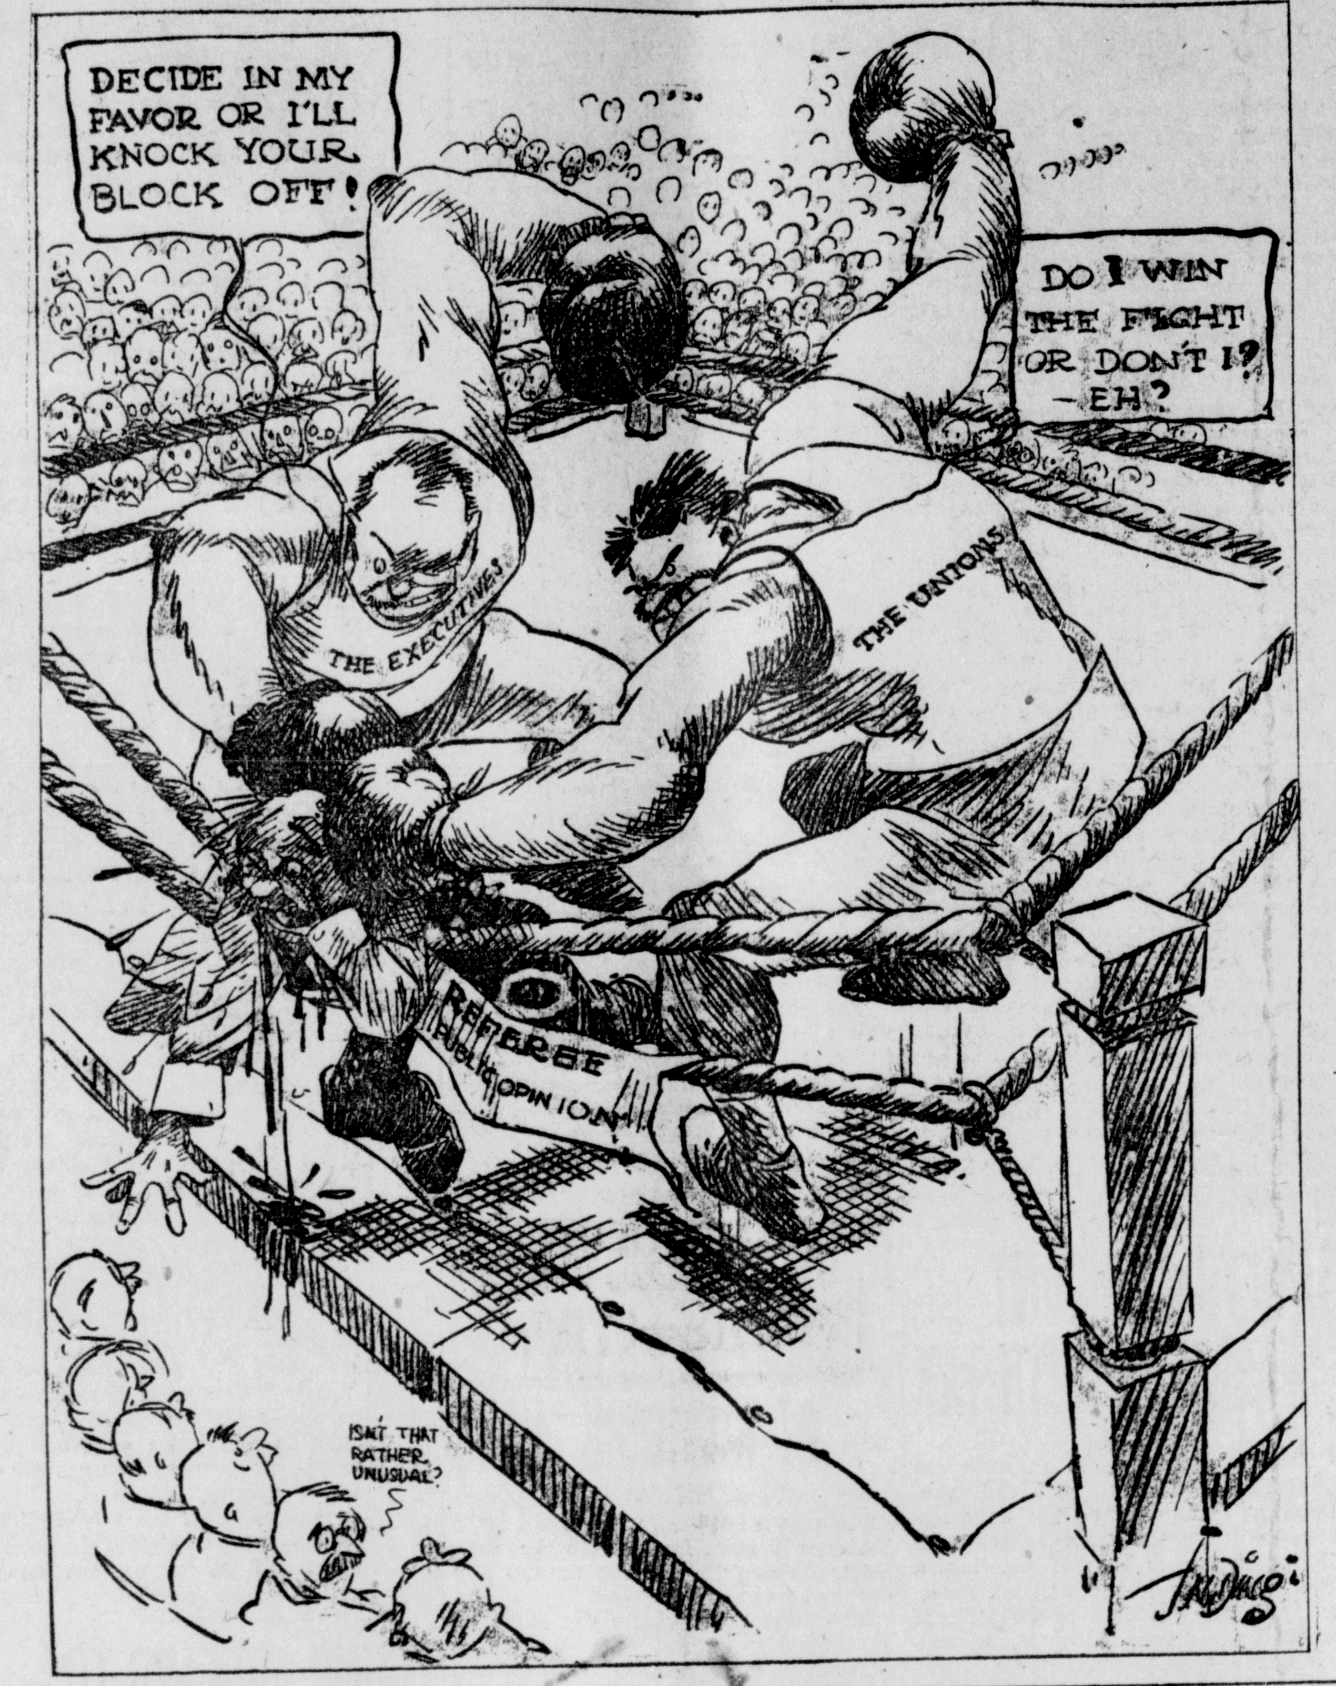

C. I. Oviatt, general manager of the Northern Telephone Co., of Enosburg Falls, Vt., saw the article and straightway took Dr. Bragdon to task for his attempt to build up California at the expense of Florida. In a letter written to the doctor, he stated:

"It may be just a matter of opinion in which we differ, but I do not see the occasion for casting reproach on Florida in order to build business for California."

"It was my privilege to pass nearly three months in Los Angeles and vicinity during the past winter, I having gone there in expectation of finding an ideal winter climate as had been described by some of the literature put out by southern California. Three days after my arrival it began to rain, which continued for nearly three weeks, and as a result, property was damaged to an estimated amount of more than one million dollars and the Santa Fe railroad put out of service. Shortly after that a three nights' freeze damaged your orange crop to the amount of approximately 45 per cent. It is true that I saw no mosquitoes, but had they been there they would have either been drowned or frozen."

"After leaving your state I went to Florida for a stay of four weeks, where I found sunshine, mild weather, and a congenial people which were fully up to my expectations and all that has been claimed for the state, the people having no occasion to apologize for so-called unusual conditions."

BEAUTY CHATS

HAVE YOU EXERCISED THIS SUMMER?

If you have been swimming, playing tennis, or any of the other outdoor games, your arms are probably rounded. But there are a great many girls who have been too busy, or not able to enjoy these sports, so I am suggesting some arm development exercises for them.

As such girls are rarely inclined to any strenuous exercising the following instructions are based upon a combination of exercise and massage bringing about the same effect as does exercise but with less outlay of energy. Another advantage lies in the small amount of time expended.

These exercises should not take longer than three to five minutes.

HOMESICKNESS.

Some day, to soothe my homesick soul, I'll go to Punktown-in-the-Hole, the town where I was born; by night I dream of Punktown friends, and when the happy vision ends I wake, distressed, forlorn. I yearn once more to walk around the Punktown square, and see the pound, the courthouse and the jail; to see the chums of long ago, before my head was crowned with snow, and I grew bent and frail. Stern Reason says, "'twill make you sad to visit now your native grad, it's changed since days of yore; the girls you knew when you were young are faded dames, their withers wrung, life's burdens made them sore. The boys you knew are toothless guys who tell old tales and swat the flies, and they've forgotten you; the town is worn by wind and rain, and you will look around in vain for landmarks that you knew." I know that Reason speaks the truth, I know the village of my youth would surely break my heart; but every morning when I wake, I say, "That trip I'll have to take—when had I better start?" And some fine day I'll load my car and journey to that burg afar, and walk among the tombs, and see the courthouse and the jail, the withered crones and gaffers frail who once were brides and grooms.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

I was watching a gardener the other day and I noted he was uprooting many plants that looked quite green and beautiful. I asked him why he did it.

"Those are weeds," he replied. "If I left them they would suck the life and nourishment out of all these beautiful shrubs that you see I am trying to protect."

I was reminded then of a friend who had just told me about a person who seemed to delight in gossip—in repeating things about some one else of whom he knew nothing. The gossip person is primarily a distributor of poison. He is the Devil's best valet.

Like a weed which serves no good purpose, the gossip in addition to taking away from that which is right and good, creates an atmosphere for himself that all seek to shun.

If you cannot say good things about someone else—say nothing. And when you hear reports of ill against some one else, just believe nothing and go on your way.

I know a friend who goes out of her way to say nice things about other people. I have never known her to repeat anything of a gossip nature against any one. Though she is very talented and needs all the boasting one could give her, still she delights in singing the praises of others, so that her own spirit grows in beauty all the time and she is beloved by all who know her.

The gossip gets nothing in return for his gossip and his own soul shrinks at every stage of the game. I wish that this world of ours might be more of a family world—in which we might all claim a divine relationship, all the time seeking to find beauty and then to distribute it. Seeking to find the good things and people—and then to increase the stock throughout the world.

I know it is trite sounding, but it's BIG sounding—make others happy and you are sure to be happy.

SENATE ADOPTS FLEXIBLE TARIFF.

The Senate, Friday, adopted the provisions in the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill embodying President Harding's recommendations for elasticity of rates after making many vital changes. Having limited the operation of its provision to July 1, 1924, the section was adopted by a vote of 36 to 20.

Before accepting that part of the Tariff Bill, the Senate forced the Finance Committee to revise the original text by placing much greater restrictions upon the powers originally intended to be conferred upon the President. The amendments adopted authorize the President to raise and lower rates within 50 per cent of the limit fixed by Congress to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad.

They provide that the President shall make those modifications on the basis of foreign valuation, except with respect to those sections embodying the rates on dyestuffs, when the rates may be raised or lowered on the basis of American valuation if the other method fails to achieve the purpose sought.

In other amendments, the Senate forced the Finance Committee to accept the demands of Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, that the President be denied the power to change the rates on the basis of "conditions in competition" instead of the differences in the cost of production.

The modifications were so extensive as to embrace the wishes of virtually all Republicans, only three of whom were unwilling to go along with the majority on the final rollcall.

OLD GHOSTS WALK.

Glen Plumb died the other day, but the ghost of his "Plumb Plan" is walking again in Washington. It is rubbing phantom elbows with the wraiths of all of the many and kindred proposals for the nationalization and Government operation of railways that have thronged Capitol Hill in the not remote past.

These dead plans of 1920 and before threaten to become the living of 1922, thanks to the growing emergency born of the rail strike. It may be that more momentous industrial history is being written than does appear upon the surface. Washington is thronged with rail union chiefs who are openly hostile to private ownership and who are beginning to believe they may be able to drag their lost prize of national operation out of the strike whirlpool.

Until August the shop strike was dragging after the manner of such strikes. Big as it loomed, piled upon the nation-wide coal strike, it appeared to be no more than a serious walkout that somehow would be settled, leaving industry and the public to worry with its aftermaths.

It was August before rail labor fused itself into something near solidarity. Then the strike took a new turn. Instead of six unions laying heavy hands on the roads, sixteen crafts and brotherhoods appeared. Intervening to save the shop crafts from disaster, the "Big Four" have given the strike a different direction. In July it was a struggle over wages, later it became a feud over "seniority," and now it seems to be swinging over toward a drive for a return of national operation.

The hopes of 1916-17 are swelling into bloom once more, and they brighten with fresh color in the breath of the threat to operate the roads from Washington. Those happy days of McAdoo and the United States Railway Administration do not seem so lost and gone forever as they did when the roads went back to their owners two years ago.

It is possible that the situation and these renewed hopes are the result of studied tactics; but the chances are that the union leaders are taking advantage of conditions as they see them. In the deadlock they see another chance and are beginning, like good strategists, to make chances where they do not exist. Without open violation of their contracts, the "Big Four" of the Rail Brotherhoods can make the country so sick of the present mess that it might welcome even the bitter dose of national operation. Once the roads do get back to Federal control, the rail unions believe they can keep them there.

The rail men have not forgotten the "Plumb Plan" nor its sisters and cousins. National operation remains for them the pillar of fire by night and the pillar of smoke by day. Glen Plumb is dead, but his plan, with many others, goes marching on. When the rail problem marches into Congress these old ghosts will stalk behind it.—Public Ledger.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA OR FLORIDA, WHICH PREFERABLE?

"Why go to Florida where you get only climate and mosquitoes? Here (in California) I have seen only two of those buzzing pests and they were blundering around, quite aware that they were out of place! And our climate beats Florida's out of sight, and you see something on the way."

So writes Dr. C. C. Bragdon, of Pasadena, Calif., in an article entitled "Two More Wonders of the World," which appeared in the May 24th issue of the Zien's Herald, published in Boston.

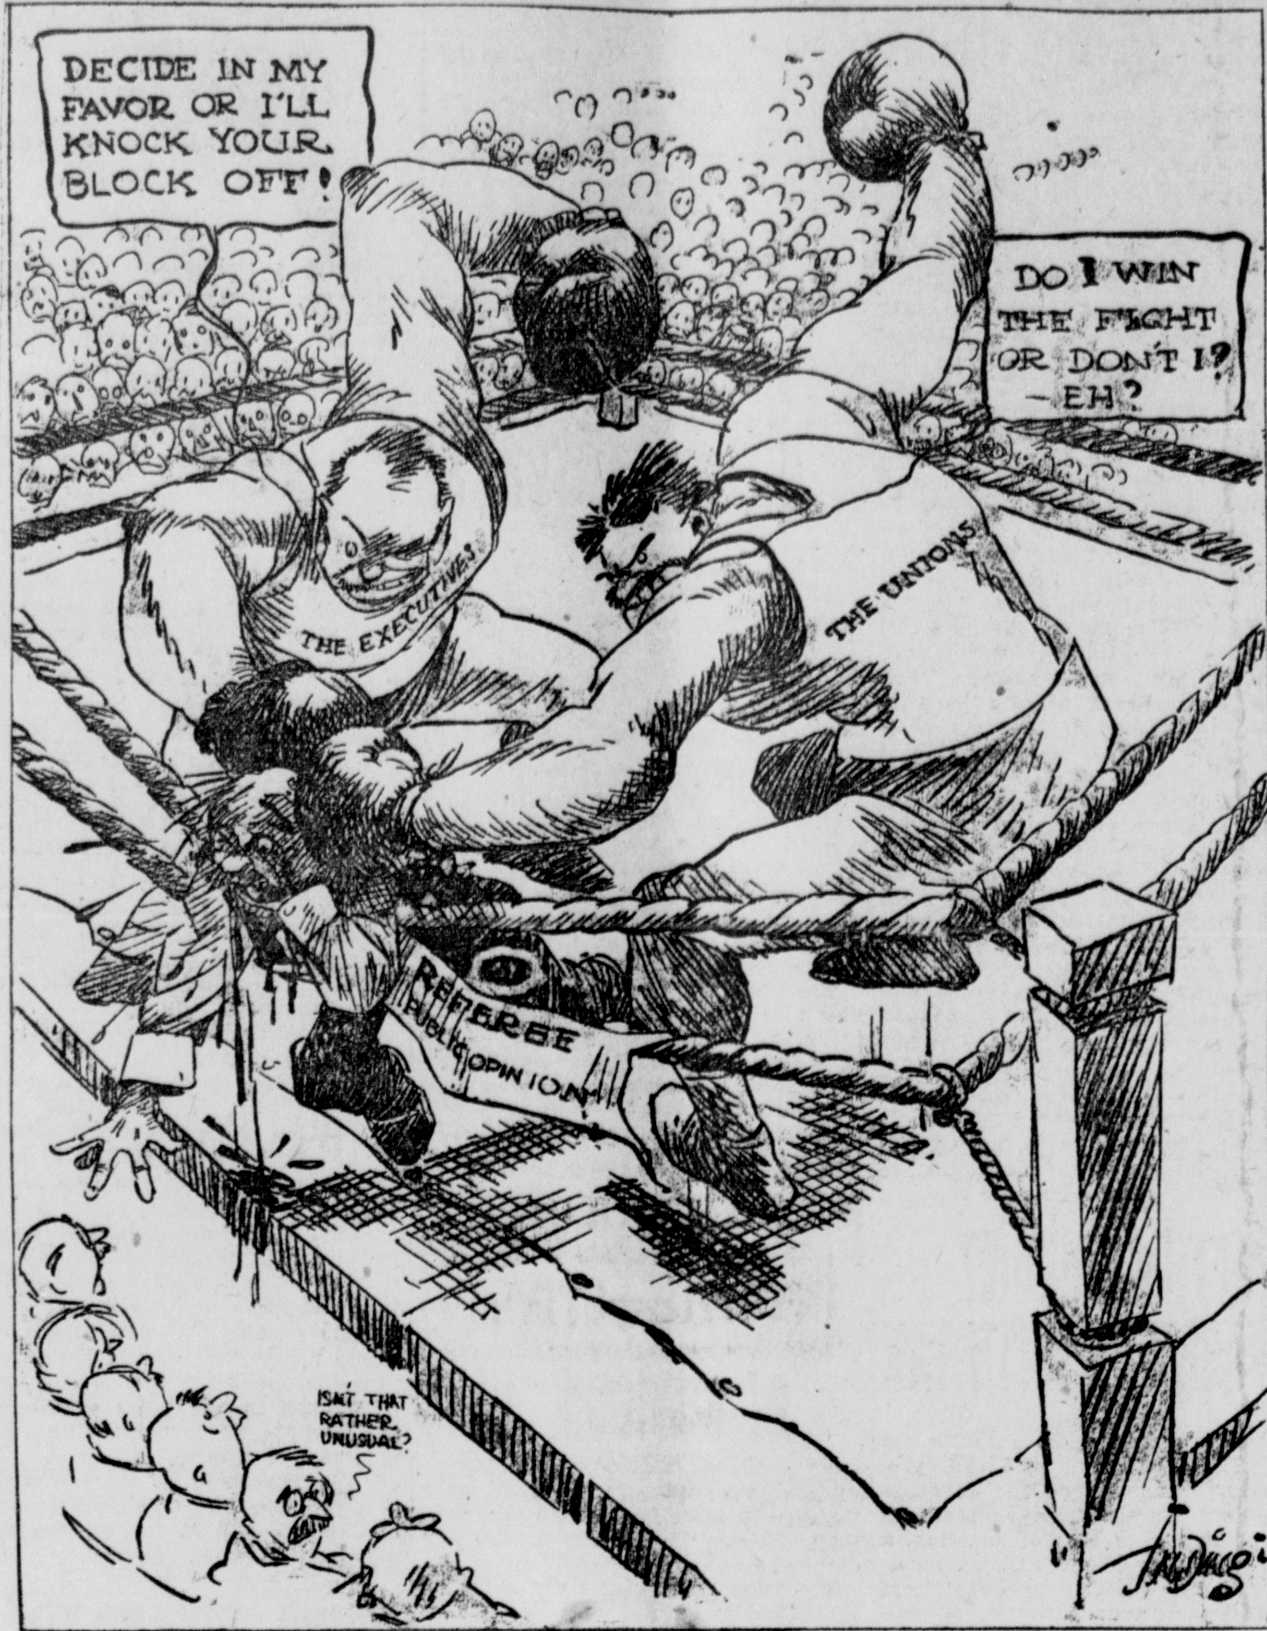

C. I. Oviatt, general manager of the Northern Telephone Co., of Enosburg Falls, Vt., saw the article and straightway took Dr. Bragdon to task for his attempt to build up California at the expense of Florida. In a letter written to the doctor, he stated:

"It may be just a matter of opinion in which we differ, but I do not see the occasion for casting reproach on Florida in order to build business for California."

"It was my privilege to pass nearly three months in Los Angeles and vicinity during the past winter, I having gone there in expectation of finding an ideal winter climate as had been described by some of the literature put out by southern California. Three days after my arrival it began to rain, which continued for nearly three weeks, and as a result, property was damaged to an estimated amount of more than one million dollars and the Santa Fe railroad put out of service. Shortly after that a three nights' freeze damaged your orange crop to the amount of approximately 45 per cent. It is true that I saw no mosquitoes, but had they been there they would have either been drowned or frozen."

"After leaving your state I went to Florida for a stay of four weeks, where I found sunshine, mild weather, and a congenial people which were fully up to my expectations and all that has been claimed for the state, the people having no occasion to apologize for so-called unusual conditions."

The boy suffered a deep cut on the cheek under the right eye, and two other smaller cuts on the face. His father was uninjured although the machine was badly damaged. Dr. J. Moore was called and dressed the cuts, the longest requiring two stitches to close the wound.

SILVER POINTER IS WINNER OF 2:18

Silver Pointer, the fast stepping pacer owned by J. W. Faulkner of this city, won the 2:18 pace, purse $500 in straight heats at the opening day's racing at the Clark County Fair, Springfield, Tuesday afternoon. The gray pacer was driven by Spec Erskine, who is steadily mounting the drivers' ladder of success, by his handling of some of the best harness horses in the state. Since the injury to Colby Turner, "armless wonder," who formerly handled the Faulkner horses and who has been laid up here with a broken leg that resulted from an accident at the Greene County Fair, the local owner has been forced to shift money, but he has been in the money with Silver Pointer both times the gray gelding has been entered.

The best time of the 18 pace was 2:12 1-4, Vici Kid, with Doc Vail up, was second in all three heats, while Lyman Cook took third money and Gale Forbes fourth money. Vail was injured when driving Charity Forbes in the 2:24 trot when he was thrown beneath the trotter and received possibly internal injuries.

Milton Axworthy took the 24 trot by winning two out of three heats with Berrigo second. First money in the $1,000 Union Stock Yards stake was taken by Walter Sterling, driven by Harring Stokes, with Prince Red-lac taking the third heat and second money. All races are run on the three-heat plan, and Frank Walker the Dayton starting judge, is starting the steppers.

OHIO FEDERATION

An extensive program of the many and varied phases that can be accomplished in the applied educational department was proposed at the general conference of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Chautauqua and some of the things emphasized at that time will give fresh ideas to Ohio club women for their educational work. Features may be grouped as highway education, conservation as affecting forests and the national parks, better American speech and library extension.

The responsibility of the individual in bringing about safe highways has been stressed by General Federation officials as one of the most important duties of club women today. State and national highway projects should be taken up and thoroughly discussed along with county highway propositions. The aim is to let national, state and county highway officials know that you know something about road building and better roads will eventually be constructed.

Club women are warned to be ever vigilant in defeating the schemes of those seeking to exploit the natural parks for their own selfish purposes. All the natural parks have been created into natural parks to preserve the wonders of nature and they must be kept intact.

All club women are asked to further the project of "Better American Speech" week in November, and of all library—extension work that of the county library has been adjudged the best.

PHYSICAL—MENTAL

An interesting program subject for next club season is "Health, Mental and Physical." Mental health is as procurable as physical health both being obtained through individual effort. From "Women's Foundation for Health," with headquarters at No. 43 east 22d street, New York City, a series of six pamphlets may be obtained free of charge.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE RE-ELECTS MEMBERS OF BOARD AT MEET

The three members of the Board of Directors of the Xenia Farmers' Exchange, were re-elected at the meeting of the stockholders of the company, in session at the annual meeting, held in the assembly room of the Court House, Tuesday night. The three board members, whose terms had expired, and who were re-elected were J. C. Williamson, Walter Nash and H. W. Eavey.

A report, showing a splendid year's business, with a large profit and dividend declared was made out the meeting by J. R. Forsyth, auditor of the company, representing the Cooperative Auditing Company, of Chicago.

The report of the manager of the Company, A. W. Tullis, also showed a gain in business during the year. The reports and election were followed by a general discussion by the stockholders.

Entertainment during the remainder of the evening was furnished by a fourteen-piece orchestra, composed of musicians from the Xenia Grange and Caesar Creek Grange.

About one hundred and fifty of the three hundred and thirteen stockholders of the company were present at the meeting.

SILVER POINTER IS WINNER OF 2:18

Silver Pointer, the fast stepping pacer owned by J. W. Faulkner of this city, won the 2:18 pace, purse $500 in straight heats at the opening day's racing at the Clark County Fair, Springfield, Tuesday afternoon.

The gray pacer was driven by Spec Erskine, who is steadily mounting the drivers' ladder of success, by his handling of some of the best harness horses in the state. Since the injury to Colby Turner, "armless wonder," who formerly handled the Faulkner horses and who has been laid up here with a broken leg that resulted from an accident at the Greene County Fair, the local owner has been forced to shift drivers, but he has been in the money with Silver Pointer both times the gray gelding has been entered.

The best time of the 18 pace was 2:12 1-4, Vici Kid, with Doc Vail up, was second in all three heats, while Lyman Cook took third money and Gale Forbes fourth money. Vail was injured when driving Charity Forbes in the 2:24 trot when he was thrown beneath the trotter and received possibly internal injuries.

Milton Axworthy took the 24 trot by winning two out of three heats with Herring second. First money in the $1,000 Union Stock Yards stake was taken by Walter Sterling, driven by Haring Stokes, with Prince Red-lac taking the third heat and second money. All races are run on the three-heat plan, and Frank Walker the Dayton starting judge, is starting the steppers.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

OHIO FEDERATION

An extensive program of the many and varied phases that can be accomplished in the applied educational department was proposed at the general conference of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Chautauqua and some of the things emphasized at that time will give fresh ideas to Ohio club women for their educational work. Features may be grouped as highway education, conservation as affecting forests and the national parks, better American speech and library extension.

The responsibility of the individual in bringing about safe highways has been stressed by General Federation officials as one of the most important duties of club women today. State and national highway projects should be taken up and thoroughly discussed along with county highway propositions. The aim is to let national, state and county highway officials know that you know something about road building and better roads will eventually be constructed.

Club women are warned to be ever vigilant in defeating the schemes of those seeking to exploit the natural parks for their own selfish purposes. All the natural parks have been created into natural parks to preserve the wonders of nature and they must be kept intact.

All club women are asked to further the project of "Better American Speech" week in November, and of all library—extension work that of the county library has been adjudged the best.

PHYSICAL—MENTAL

An interesting program subject for next club season is "Health, mental and Physical." Mental health is as procurable as physical health both being obtained through individual effort. From "Women's Foundation for Health," with headquarters at No. 43 east 22d street, New York City, a series of six pamphlets may be obtained free of charge.

OHIO FEDERATION

Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Federation, is at Mountaineer, Tenn.

The Civic League, of Greenville, assisted in the sale of Chautauqua tickets at Greenville and earned $125. The sum was turned over by the club women to the city hospital.

MINES BEING PLACED IN READINESS FOR WORK

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 16.—So confident are miners and operators that an agreement will be signed at Philadelphia today, which will result in an order for resumption of work at the anthracite mines, that coal mines were being placed in readiness for work today. It is anticipated that the agreement at Philadelphia will have to be sent to a convention of miners which will delay the resumption of actual coal mining until the latter days of the month, but when the signal for work is given it will find the mines ready to make heavy shipments.

"WONDERFUL ARREST" MADE BY FRENCH GENDARME

Rouen, France, August 16.—Police headquarters here, following an epidemic of petty chicken-coop thefts, recently sent out instructions for all the commissaries of this district to be on the lookout for suspicious characters and to demand their papers of identity. A young, ambitious gendarme, recently appointed, hailed a pedestrian along the high road, who was not so armed. The gendarme escorted the prisoner to the nearest police station, two miles west of here, for further examination. "You made a wonderful capture," the prisoner told the youthful officer. "You are certain to receive a lot of credit for this arrest." Upon arriving at the station house the prisoner was permitted to telephone to the Public Prosecutor here, who ordered his immediate release. He proved to be Aristide Briand, seven times Premier of France, who headed the French delegation to the Washington conference last November. He had forgotten his identity papers and was going fishing a few miles from his summer home in a near-by village.

Sykes Comfort Powder Healed Its Skin & Stopped All Fussing

Lawrence, Mass.—"My oldest child was badly chafed, fussed all the time, and the only way I could do anything with him was to keep soft cloths next to his skin. I tried several powders but nothing helped him until I heard of Sykes Comfort Powder. I cannot recommend it too highly because it has healed the skin affections of my children after everything else had failed, and stopped all fussing." — Mrs. E. L. Green, Lawrence, Mass.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

MINES BEING PLACED IN READINESS FOR WORK

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 16.—So confident are miners and operators that an agreement will be signed at Philadelphia today, which will result in an order for resumption of work at the anthracite mines, that coal mines were being placed in readiness for work today. It is anticipated that the agreement at Philadelphia will have to be sent to a convention of miners which will delay the resumption of actual coal mining until the latter days of the month, but when the signal for work is given it will find the mines ready to make heavy shipments.

"WONDERFUL ARREST" MADE BY FRENCH GENDARME

Rouen, France, August 16.—Police headquarters here, following an epidemic of petty chicken-coop thefts, recently sent out instructions for all the commissaries of this district to be on the lookout for suspicious characters and to demand their papers of identity. A young, ambitious gendarme, recently appointed, hailed a pedestrian along the high road, who was not so armed.

The gendarme escorted the prisoner to the nearest police station, two miles west of here, for further examination.

"You made a wonderful capture," the prisoner told the youthful officer. "You are certain to receive a lot of credit for this arrest."

Upon arriving at the station house the prisoner was permitted to telephone to the Public Prosecutor here, who ordered his immediate release. He proved to be Aristide Briand, seven times Premier of France, who headed the French delegation to the Washington conference last November. He had forgotten his identity papers and was going fishing a few miles from his summer home in a nearby village.

Coxey is making his trip in an ordinary "flyover," the sides and top are covered with his platform, done in yellow lettering.

Baby Fussed All the Time

Sykes Comfort Powder Healed Its Skin & Stopped All Fussing
Lawrence, Mass.—"My oldest child was badly chafed, fussed all the time, and the only way I could do anything with him was to keep soft cloths next to his skin. I tried several powders but nothing helped him until I heard of Sykes Comfort Powder. I cannot recommend it too highly because it has healed the skin affections of my children after everything else had failed, and stopped all fussing." — Mrs. E. L. Green, Lawrence, Mass.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

AMERICAN SLANG TO BE UNIVERSAL TONGUE OF ELITE

Paris, Aug. 16.—Colloquial English—American slang—probably will be the future universal language, the speech of the elite, the tongue of diplomacy. In a not distant decade, perhaps, the French Premier may cable the Secretary of State of the United States: "Say, put me straight on this Pacific business. What's Japan's idea?"

And the Secretary will cable the Japanese Premier: "If you can give France the info shoot it across."

Sooner or later "We have with us tonight" will be the after-dinner formula at international banquets from Indo-China to Heligoland.

Eventually "Tell it to Sweeney" or "Tie it outside" will replace the polite forms of repudiation current in cosmopolitan social circles.

All of this French scholars are shudderingly prognosticating if French is not retained as the international language and if Esperanto is not pushed as an auxiliary and subsidiary universal tongue. Once give English a look-in, they insist, and slang will become the table talk of statesmen and princes.

ESPERANTO STARTED TROUBLE The trouble all began because of Esperanto.

Somebody—perhaps an agent of police—heard a bewhiskered individual, wearing horn-rimmed glasses whispering in Esperanto to a wrinkle browed person, with pamphlets in his pocket. Being a curious person, he was annoyed because he could not understand a word.

Somebody—perhaps the agent of police—started the story that Esperanto was becoming the language of Bolshevism. Whenever a dark-browed Russian wanted to inoculate an innocent Frenchman with the idea that a Soviet was a respectable form of government, he said it in Esperanto. The police, however disguised, were fooled.

Finally persons in authority one way and another became convinced that Esperanto was being used to further the spread of communistic doctrines.

An appeal was sent to school authorities throughout France to do all they could to prevent the theoretical world-language from being taught or spread.

ESPERANTO OPPOSED

Interviews against Esperanto appeared in the newspapers. "Esperanto injures the intellectual development of youth," urged Alfred Capus, interviewed by Le Matin. "It is a language without finer shades incapable of expressing anything but the crudest ideas. It would be impossible to conduct an argument against communism in Esperanto. Communistic ideas are primitive—the language suits them."

But the reaction was inevitable. A row ensued. Sudden interest was manifested in Esperanto. Faddists who were busily studying Arabian or Sanscrit or mediæval Chinese fired their teachers and hired Esperantists with the proper international accent to teach them to speak universally. After Russian Esperanto became the most popular language to "take up" in "study groups."

For every sober authority who denounced Esperanto a man of letters has been found to support it. The president of the examining board of the Polytechnic Association, quoted by Le Matin asserts that "to say that Esperanto is a vehicle for Bolshevism is profoundly unjust—a language belongs to anybody who cares to use it." He asserted that Esperantists in Paris were being persecuted.

But it was Professor A. Aulard of the Sorbonne, who hit upon the really picturesque reason as to why Frenchmen should tolerate if not support Esperanto.

"French is too difficult to remain the international language," he wrote Le Matin. "But shall I continue as the language of good society?"

He implied that it should. And to obtain that end he urged French educators to "facilitate the diffusion of Esperanto."

"Otherwise," he threatened, "if there is no artificial language, English will become the international language of all the peoples of the earth just as it is already the international language of the yellow races."

"But it will not be a pure English. It will be a denatured English—simplified by barbarisms."

"Against that, fate for the world let us oppose our own language for the elite and Esperanto for the populace."

ORDINANCE NO. 209

To Proceed with the improvement of North Detroit Street from Ankeney Mill Road to north corporation line, by paving, construction of storm water sewers, water connections and cement curbs and gutters.

SEARCH IS MADE FOR WATER SUPPLY FOR WILMINGTON

Wilmington, Aug. 16.—Little hints of more-water news here and there have raised the hopes of the people alert to the needs of the city of Wilmington, that adequate supplies of water may be located and the continued story of a summer water famine in the city be ended.

H. G. Bates, canner, whose big plant lies south of the city, near Lytle Creek, told at the Commercial Club meeting recently of the discovery at his plant of a strong vein of water. Workmen were drilling a well for plant supply, and were about 100 feet down when the water suddenly came hissing into the drill hole, and shot up into the excavated portions of the well. Mr. Bates reported that it gave indications of being a splendid well, and he expressed the belief that his discovery might lead to a new line of activity in search for water for the city in that locality.

Surveyors are busy in preliminary work of establishing lines for the big storage dam that is contemplated along Todds Fork, out the Xenia pike.

The Dayton Power and Light Company is fathering the project, and full plans will be laid for the construction of the dam, and complete estimates made of the storage capacity, as well as the character of the water and the effectiveness of the dam in meeting the water demands of the city when wells fail.

COAL MINING IS RESUMED AFTER 20 WEEKS IDLENESS

United States will be offered the new agreement, and upon signing, may resume operations immediately. It is believed certain the production of coal will gradually increase until the normal output is achieved.

The new contract continues the old wages and working conditions, including the check-off system of paying union dues. It is effective until April 1, 1923, and provides machinery for negotiation, but not for arbitrating next year's scale. A national convention of bituminous operators and miners, to be held in Cleveland October 2, for selecting a fact-finding commission to investigate the coal industry, is also provided for in the agreement.

Union leaders can not now estimate the number of miners affected by the agreement. President Frank Ledvinka of District Number 5, Ohio Mine Workers, telegraphed union headquarters in Bellaire instructing miners to resume work today in the mines of the Lorain Coal and Dock Co., and the Mayer properties.

The Hocking district of southern Ohio is the only important mine field in Ohio not affected by the agreement. A few individual operators from this district, signed the scale, but the southern Ohio coal exchange as an organization has consistently opposed making any but a separate agreement.

Frank Keeney, president of the West Virginia Mines wired Kanawha sub district officials to permit operators to clean up mines there immediately. He expects a tonnage of 5,000,000 to sign from Kanawha, and a total tonnage of 30,000,000, to meet the terms in West Virginia. A tonnage of 1,000,000 in the Morgantown, W. Va., district is affected by the settlement here. Their mines were cleaned up last week and are expected to get an early start.

Most of the miners' policy committee of 127 left for their homes last night and today. A few officials will remain to sign up operators who were not present yesterday.

The scale continued in yesterday's agreement, was set by President Wilson's bituminous commission in 1920. It provides a common labor wage of $7.50 a day. Tonnage men may make a larger amount. Machine cutters receive in eastern Ohio 15 cents a ton and loaders 79 cents. Payment is provided also for a large number of extras.

BRINGING UP FATHER

IRISH FREE STATE TROOPS WILL WIN SAYS LOCAL MAN WHO IS HOME AFTER TRIP TO EUROPE; MAKE BUT BRIEF STAY

Earnest but misled soldiers of the Irish Republican Army, with leather leggings forming the only soldierly part of their raiment but plenty of guns and ammunition, an unexpected discipline, and a knowledge of warfare gleaned during years of fighting occupied the southern counties of dissention-torn Ireland, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll, East Second Street, visited the isle on a recent European trip.

Made up mostly of young men who have cast their lot with the DeValera forces because they were not included in the registration, permitted to vote and which did vote favorably on the proposed Irish Free State, trained to mountain fighting and unwilling to give up, this soldiery is doomed to eventual defeat at the hands of the Free State troops, according to the observation of Mr. Carroll. Since the visit of the local man, the Free State troops have swept into these southern counties, the last strong hold of the Republicans, capturing Cork and Waterford and other prominent cities and making what is believed to be the beginning of the campaign to wipe out the dissenters and establish the peace that has been the aim of Irish prayers and the object of Irish martyrdom for years.

"The Free State Troops will eventually win," said Mr. Carroll. "I believe the people generally are glad to accept the Free-State proposal of Britain and want to end the internal warfare and settle down. An Irishman who was a fellow traveler told me that the dissenters were not included in the registration that voted on the proposal of accepting the Free State. The Republican soldiers are all young, very few of them having any schooling whatever, but who have been fighting for years. They have established a reign of terror by pillaging banks and stores for the money, provisions and supplies necessary to keep them going. What effect the death of Arthur Griffith will have on the situation, is more than I can tell."

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll had reserved their trip to Ireland to the last leg of their three-months' journey over Europe. They went to England from France, and at the American Express office in London were turned down when they asked for tickets to Ireland. It became apparent that going to Ireland during this period of turmoil was simply not being done.

Travelers who wanted to go there were looked at askance by the British. It was only after much difficulty that the local people finally obtained tickets and after much more difficulty that they arrived at the city of Wexford, where the occupation of the Republican troops had made conditions so terrifying that the Americans were almost afraid to venture out of doors.

In their brief trip to Ireland, they made a visit to Cork and also to Arter, a little village in County Kerry near Tralee, where Mr. Carroll's father was born. Their departure from the island preceded only a short time the southern campaign of the Free State army, and their eventual occupancy of the territory over which the local people had traveled. In one place they were permitted to visit a beautiful English estate that had been captured by the Republican soldiers, who were using it as a bivouac. The estate was surrounded by a stone wall, through which the soldiers were making holes from which to shoot, while the gates were barricaded with sand bags. Quantities of barbed wire were at hand to stretch across the roads in anticipation of a visit of Free State troops, and preparations were also being made to blow up the road in sections. Ireland, torn by civil warfare, is still hoping for the peace it has been fighting for for years, according to Mr. Carroll. Irish business men and in fact the majority of the people want to accept the treaty with England although the Republican army of young men still has many sympathizers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll left here with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Binder, sailing from Montreal on the Canadian Pacific steamer "Montreal" for the 14-day trip to Naples. In Italy they were present in Rome at the Eucharistic Congress of the Catholic Church, visited the Vatican, had an audience with the Pope, and were witnesses of the elaborate religious ceremonies that attended the Congress, including the processional of 27,000 priests from all nations, and the sight of 15,000 boys receiving Communion at open air Mass in the famous old Coliseum. They were much impressed with the architectural beauties of the Italian Churches and public buildings, and with the quaint customs of the land.

From Italy the party went to Venice, visiting the hotel resorts near the famous city on water, and while Mr. and Mrs. Binder remained there for a time, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll went on to Switzerland.

"One is immediately impressed with the quiet and peacefulness that pervades Switzerland, on crossing the border into that country," said Mr. Carroll. "It is one country that I wish to return to." In France, the Americans visited Paris, taking side trips to its many wonder spots, and then spent some time at Lourdes, France, where they were present during one of the periodical pilgrimages to the Shrine of the Blessed Virgin, where many miraculous cures are effected at the famous church of Lourdes and the Grotto where row upon row of discarded crutches and other appliances give evidence of the remedies attained there. They were in Paris on the Fourth of July when the American Flags made the city look like New York.

In Belgium Mr. and Mrs. Carroll were again impressed by the industry and hospitality of the people and their loyal devotion to their hero King Albert. In Germany, in spite of an apparent feeling the German people held toward American travelers because of the war, the travelers found a travelers' paradise. For although prices in Germany were not comparable with those in other European cities, because of the low rate of exchange, accommodations were obtained very cheaply. At the time of the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, the American dollar was worth 310 marks, and the mark has since lowered in value to 510 marks to the dollar. Because of the difference in the rate of exchange, the Americans obtained excellent hotel accommodations for less than $2 that would have cost them $5 or more a day in Paris or other cities. On top of this is added a government tax, and Americans have been particularly aggrieved on their visits to German cities because of the police tax, which requires every American to register with the police on arrival, and a high tax which is imposed during their stay in the country. Appeals to the American Ambassador are expected to result in this tax being discontinued.

"Of the places we enjoyed most, Rome during the Eucharistic Congress, the pilgrimage at Lourdes, our visits to Switzerland, Venice and Belgium, and our stay in Paris, were the most enjoyable," said Mr. Carroll. The local people sailed from Queens-town, Ireland on the Cunard Liner, "Laconia" for the return trip, landing at New York. Mr. and Mrs. Binder are still in Europe.

CORA TAKES POSSESSION OF HER OFFICE

Chapter (45)

"Oh, Cora, isn't it great? You'll be right near me all the time!" Nellie declared as the three girls discussed Cora's new idea, and her new office.

"Where in the world did you go this morning?"

"To my work, of course! I'd introduced you, you didn't want me to stay and watch you vamp him, did you?" Nellie asked with a laugh. Then:

"Isn't he just fine, Cora? He treated you just the same as he does the young ladies Miss Dorothy brings to the office, just that same polite manner."

"He is a very attractive man, a gentleman. A real gentleman, Nellie, does not keep one manner for certain people, and another for others. He is gentlemanly to all. I am so happy over having that furniture. That was one of the things that worried me—how I was to get the furniture even if I found an office. I had decided to buy it on the installment plan. But I hate debts so, and this will be all in the rent. And such a small rent for an office in that building!"

"It's a small office," Nellie said, "and of I were you, Cora, I bet I wouldn't worry about the small rent. Perhaps if you ask them to, they will raise you!"

It was the 20th of the month. Mr. Fallon had told Cora her rent, would not start until the first of the next month, but had given her the key and told her to take possession at once.

"It gives me ten whole days to get ready," she said gleefully.

"Shall you hire a girl?" Gladys asked.

"Not until I get started and get work enough to warrant it. I shall do it myself while I can."

"I'm afraid it will be just as hard maybe harder than working for some one else," Gladys went on. "You will be so anxious to do all you can." Nellie broke in:

"I tell you what, Cora! You take all the work you can get, and what you can't do, bring home and I'll do it for you."

"No, Nellie, you work all day, that's enough without doing my work even ings."

"I only mean until you get started—get so rich you won't need me. It won't hurt me a bit to work a little evenings here at home; it's different from in an office somehow. One can stop and talk between times here, or do it any time they please. Please do as I want you to, Cora my heart; will be broke if you don't."

"Do say 'broken'!" Gladys interrupted. "And, Cora, I'll help too. You have done lost of things for us. It's too bad if we can't do something for you."

Tears filled Cora's eyes.

"I can't stand so much kindness, girls," she smiled as she wiped them away. "I have been so afraid—afraid because of mother—and some way God is making everything all right for me."

"Miss Carter always said 'God helps them that helps themselves!' Nellie quoted. 'I guess the old dame was right. I didn't think so then—when she said it, because I grumbled.'

When Cora let herself into the room that was now hers—she had gone there at once although she intended to visit Mr. Fallon's office later and give him the first month's rent—she found to her surprise, the cleaning woman at work and a rug on the floor. Surely it had not been there before.

"Good morning, Miss Baker!" Mr. Fallon stood in the doorway. She had been so surprised to see the woman she had not closed it.

"Good morning," she answered, "I want to thank you for the rug, Mr. Fallon. I am quite sure I owe it to you."

Her frank acceptance pleased him, as had her appearance and manner on the previous day.

"I found it had been discarded as being too small, so I tried it here," He took the rent, signed a receipt for a month, then said in a low tone:

"Your office will be kept clean for you. Don't feel under any obligations,"

as she started to object; "we pay for it anyway. It goes with our suite of rooms, you know."

"I must thank you just the same," she smiled at him. "I have an office ready to start to work instead of a bare room."

He lingered, chatting a moment, then left her. Could Cora have heard him mutter: "She's a good person to be with Nellie," she might have thought it due to Nellie that he had been more than kind to her.

She sought the superintendent of the building, got the address of a man to letter the door calling herself "C. Baker," it being no one's business if she were man or woman so long as her work was well done. Then she bought supplies, just enough to begin with. Later if she got on, she would try to buy wholesale.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend?

Mrs. Lee Ledbetter, 167 Hill St., Xenia, says: "I was miserably run down, especially when I arose in the morning. My back was weak and the least exertion tired me. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store and received immediate relief. It was but a short time until Doan's cured me entirely of this trouble. The fact that I have not had any symptom for several years gives me reason to believe that Doan's have effected a permanent cure."

Mrs. Ledbetter gave the above statement Aug. 2, 1917, and on Aug. 15, 1921, she added: "I am very glad to again recommend so reliable a kidney remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills. They have made a permanent cure for me and I have had no occasion to use Doan's since they cured me several years ago. I am glad to confirm my statement of 1917."

"I'm afraid it will be just as hard maybe harder than working for some one else," Gladys went on. "You will be so anxious to do all you can." Nellie broke in:

"I tell you what, Cora! You take all the work you can get and what you can't do, bring home and I'll do it for you."

"No, Nellie, you work all day, that's enough without doing my work even ings."

"I only mean until you get started—get so rich you won't need me. It won't hurt me a bit to work a little evenings here at home; it's different from in an office somehow. One can stop and talk between times here, or do it any time they please. Please do as I want you to, Cora my heart will be broke if you don't."

"Do say 'broken'!" Gladys interrupted. "And, Cora, I'll help too. You have done lost of things for us. It's too bad if we can't do something for you."

Tears filled Cora's eyes.

"I can't stand so much kindness, girls," she smiled as she wiped them away. "I have been so afraid—afraid because of mother—and some way God is making everything all right for me."

"Miss Carter always said 'God helps them that helps themselves!'" Nellie quoted. "I guess the old dame was right. I didn't think so then—when she said it, because I grumbled."

When Cora let herself into the room that was now hers—she had gone there at once although she intended to visit Mr. Fallon's office later and give him the first month's rent—she found to her surprise, the cleaning woman at work and a rug on the floor. Surely it had not been there before.

"Good morning, Miss Baker!" Mr. Fallon stood in the doorway. She had been so surprised to see the woman she had not closed it.

"Good morning," she answered. "I want to thank you for the rug, Mr. Fallon. I am quite sure I owe it to you." Her frank acceptance pleased him, as had her appearance and manner on the previous day.

"I found it had been discarded as being too small, so I tried it here," he took the rent, signed a receipt for a month, then said in a low tone: "Your office will be kept clean for you. Don't feel under any obligations,"

as she started to object; "we pay for it anyway. It goes with our suite of rooms, you know."

"I must thank you just the same," she smiled at him. "I have an office ready to start to work instead of a bare room."

He lingered, chatting a moment, then left her. Could Cora have heard him mutter: "She's a good person to be with Nellie," she might have thought it due to Nellie that he had been more than kind to her.

She sought the superintendent of the building, got the address of a man to letter the door calling herself "C. Baker," it being no one's business if she were man or woman so long as her work was well done. Then she bought supplies, just enough to begin with. Later if she got on, she would try to buy wholesale.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend?

Mrs. Lee Ledbetter, 167 Hill St., Xenia, says: "I was miserably run down, especially when I arose in the morning. My back was weak and the least exertion tired me. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store and received immediate relief. It was but a short time until Doan's cured me entirely of this trouble. The fact that I have not had any symptom for several years gives me reason to believe that Doan's have effected a permanent cure."

Mrs. Ledbetter gave the above statement Aug. 2, 1917, and on Aug. 15, 1921, she added: "I am very glad to again recommend so reliable a kidney remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills. They have made a permanent cure for me and I have had no occasion to use Doan's since they cured me several years ago. I am glad to confirm my statement of 1917."

Station to Station Telephone Service

MANY patrons of long distance telephone lines are saving money by using station-to-station service.

A station-to-station call is one on which the calling party does not request a particular person, but will talk with anyone at the called telephone.

This class of service is quicker and the charge is about 20 per cent. less than the person-to-person call.

You can effect a further saving by availing yourself of the still lower rates for evening and night station-to-station service where the initial rate exceeds 25 cents.
